

ALBA

"A smoky, soulful voice, provocative lyrics and extraordinary guitar playing make her one of the most talented musicians in this generation" — Never Enough Music

The British-Spanish singer and guitarist has developed a timeless yet fresh pop-rock sound with undertones of neo-soul, funk and R&B.

Having started her musical journey as the front woman for Sons of Rock in her teen years, ALBA has taken stages by storm, captivating audiences with her unique songwriting style and by playing guitar behind her head in reminiscence of Hendrix.

ALBA embarked on her solo project after moving to London in 2016 and making it her new base of operations.

She has performed on stages across the UK including The Cavern Club, Ronnie Scott's, Lancaster Music Festival, or The Alternative Escape, and opening for acclaimed acts such as The Waterboys.

ALBA is a passionate environmental campaigner and likes to use her music to make a difference and speak up about social and climate issues. She joined forces with several non-profit organisations to raise funds and awareness around climate change and how music can be greener.

Her music has been added to rotation in radios and playlists around the globe, and has received coverage from well-known publications, blogs and tastemakers such as Guitar magazine, Amazing Radio and BBC Radio.

“ALBA delivers soulful releases filled with warming guitar strings and glittering productions. Crooning over the soft rhythm, ALBA creates a feel-good sound with hints of pop-rock and jazz/neo-soul sensibilities.”
Wonderland Magazine

“ALBA's voice is beautiful and her music has a bit of a Nashville feel as well as cityscape in there.”
BBC Radio London
